

Sees No Reason For Mooser To Vote For Hughes

"There is absolutely no reason why a progressive should vote for Charles Evans Hughes," declared Hon. John F. Geckler, former bull mooser, who was the progressive candidate for state senator from Marion county in 1912, in an interview given out here Wednesday. "A true progressive can find no grounds for casting his vote for the republican candidate this year. Hughes has absolutely no right to the progressive vote of this country."

"Four years ago the progressive party polled more than four million votes and succeeded in carrying six states," continued Mr. Geckler. "While this vast army was recruited from all parties the majority came from the republican party as the result of dissatisfaction with the Taft administration."

Questions to Consider.

"Now that the progressive party is dead, can the leaders who assassinated it drive those who composed the rank and file into the republican party? Is the 'invisible government' so often denounced by Beveridge, which controlled that party, a thing of the past? Or are the reactionaries Barnes, Smoot, Penrose, and Root still in control? Are those who so valiantly fought for the progressive party and its principles going to permit Roosevelt to persuade them to discard those principles and support the republican ticket in order to gratify his selfish ambition and thirst for power? Will they give him another chance to betray them? These are questions which all genuine progressives ought to seriously consider."

Wilson is Remedy.

"Happily, however, there is a way out for those who had the courage of their convictions and supported the progressive ticket. Careful consideration of the administration of Woodrow Wilson ought to convince any one that the way out is to support the democratic ticket. That Wilson's administration has been progressive enough to meet the requirements of a progressive age can be easily proven by the record. In fact a recital of the constructive legislation of a progressive character enacted within the last three years sounds like the demands of the progressive platform."

"Workmen's compensation which occupied an important place in the progressive platform has now been enacted into a law by the democratic party, both in the state and nation."

Measures That Appeal.

"Among other progressive measures which will appeal to progressives may be named the federal reserve act—cured our national disease of panic; the rural credit bill, which for the first time puts the farmer on a plane with other business men; the income tax law, which takes from the extraordinarily rich a largely increased amount toward the expenses of our government; the federal trade commission act for the protection of the public and the business men as well; the Clayton bill, which makes clear, simple rules of the alarming and threatening vagueness of the Sherman law; the Smith-Lever agricultural education act, providing that the federal government shall cooperate with the states in educating the farmer in ways of securing greater productivity of the soil."

"With this record of progressive legislation in view, how can any progressive refuse to support the Wilson administration? This is no time to quibble or hesitate. Every voter who believes in a progressive government should stand up and be counted and make a continuance of such a government possible by standing fairly and squarely for the election of Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic ticket."

Hindu Couple Wed in America

MR. & MRS. SHANKAR M. PAGAR, OF INDIA, IN AMERICA

A romance which began in faraway India has culminated in the marriage of two young members of the Hindu priestly caste, both students at Columbia university. The bride was Miss Radhakshi Pagar, a Brahmin, and the bridegroom was Shankar Pagar, a Brahmin, both sent to this country by the government of Baroda to complete their education.

The ceremony was celebrated at the Vendanta society's meeting place.

The couple wore their native bridal costumes. The bride, who is 24 years old, was dressed in a white silk sari, while the bridegroom, her senior by one year, wore a turban, shawl and dhoti.

It was a ceremony of love, of flowers, of incense. In all East Indian ceremonies incense is a most necessary thing, and it hung in purple clouds over the young couple who sat while the priest, Swami Bodhanda, read verses from the sacred books of India, the Mantras of the Vedas. Instead of the ring ceremony, the bride and bridegroom exchanged garlands of flowers.

MURDOCK PRAISES WILSON'S COURSE

Wants to Know if Hughes Would Have Preferred Railroad Strike.

News-Times Special Service:

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Victor Murdock, editor of the Wichita, Kas., Eagle, and a pioneer of the progressive movement, has declared unqualifiedly in favor of President Wilson's course in averting a nationwide railroad strike. Referring to Candidate Hughes' opposition to the eight-hour bill and his insistence that arbitration should have been compelled, Mr. Murdock's newspaper says in part:

"But Mr. Hughes, like the republican newspapers, failed to point out how this could be done. The railroad men took the position that the eight-hour day was not arbitrable; they refused flatly to arbitrate. Under the circumstances, then, unless the eight-hour day was granted, a strike would have been inevitable. Would Mr. Hughes have preferred a strike with its inevitable burnings and disorder, its bloodshed and prostration of industry, its stirring of class hatred and suffering of millions of people to the settlement that Mr. Wilson effected?"

The strike of 1894 gives a faint idea of what might have been expected in 1916, if the president, following Mr. Cleveland's precedent, had attempted to settle it by force. The great mass of people will undoubtedly feel that Mr. Wilson was wiser in his generation than Mr. Cleveland, or than Mr. Hughes. The Adamson bill does not effect a permanent settlement. Further measures are necessary and should be adopted as the president has recommended.

"As to the surrender of the president to the demand for an eight-hour day, progressives demanded that measure of social justice four years ago and it certainly will become any one who supported that platform to rail at the president for helping to secure for the railroad men a measure so manifestly just to labor."

FRIENDS ARE ASKED TO SUPPORT DRY ELEMENT

Convention Considers Question of International Peace After Hearing London Letter.

News-Times Special Service:

RICHMOND, Ind., Sept. 21.—The report to the Indiana yearly meeting of Friends here Wednesday by the trustees of the Anti-Saloon league recommended that the "dry" candidates for governor and the legislature be given the support of Friends. Reports on missionary work among the Osage Indians reported to be the wealthiest Indians in the United States, indicated many of them are accepting the Christian religion.

Our Fall campaign is on.

Here is information about our candidates

THE new suit and overcoat styles are here for fall. Our famous Varsity Fifty-Five suits show a more marked waistline; the buttons on the coat front are placed higher; lapels are a trifle shorter; new ideas in waistcoats.

The belt-back variations here will interest dressy young men; some of the "belters" are double breasted—smarter features than you ever saw before.

Older men who like conservative clothes are amply provided for; suits show no decided style innovations; fabrics dark blue, grays and browns.

The Overcoat hit of the season will be our Varsity Six Hundred; a trifle body tracing—fall weight.

"Shelter Coats"—ideal fall utility coats made of light weight materials, rainproofed; smart enough for dressy occasions.

The shirts show new and different colorings; splendid values at $1, $1.50 and up.

Hats—for early fall the new soft shapes are the thing; greens, grays, browns—$2, $3 and up.

Plenty of striking neckwear in every conceivable shade—50c, $1, $1.50, $2, $2.50.

Now come in and see the clothes themselves. The prices are low; values, high.
